June 30, 1998

Dear Harold —

This comes up so infrequently on the internet, just thought you might like to see what people are saying when your name comes up.

It has been overcast the last couple of mornings, then thunderstorms briefly overnight but violently. The regular thunderstorms have caused flash floods in southeastern Ohio and even closed some major roads here in central Ohio.

Right now, after an overcast morning, there are billowy white clouds, sunshine and a breeze. We're looking at 80's the next couple of days — a break from the sticky 90's last week.

Take care.

Sincerely,

Dave